Summary of Death And Destruction In Western Storm

Southern California Suffers From Unprecedented Rain and Snow—Five Thousand Homeless, Death Toll Reaches 21—Other States Also Suffer.

(By The Associated Press.)

California—Southern part of state flood bound as the result of four days of unprecedented rain and snow.

Five thousand persons homeless after fleeing from high water in Venice, Long Beach, Anaheim, Fullerton, Los Angeles, San Diego and smaller towns near the southern metropolis.

Death list reached 21 as toll in snow slides near Fresno was swelled to 13.

Property damage untold; $1,000,000 damage to bridges in Los Angeles alone; total probably will reach several millions.

Nearly 100 oil derricks blown down by violent wind at Taft.

Nearly every railroad and highway in flood district blocked. Limited train service started from Los Angeles east.

San Diego isolated with high water threatening for a time the residential district and marine base.

Continued rain promised for today and another storm approaching from the Pacific ocean.

Flood conditions prevailed in at least 20 cities, with seven of them badly inundated.

Utah—Three dead, five injured as snow slides strike northern state mining camps, crippling traffic facilities.

Heavy damage to highways in southern Utah after cloud burst.

Weather bureau bulletins forecast continued unsettled conditions as part of severe storm sweeping the Pacific coast.

Arizona—Many streams at flood stage. Highways and railroad tracks undermined.

Prescott reported virtually isolated due to weakened railroad trestles and flooded highways.

Menace Unabated.

San Francisco, Feb. 17 (AP).—Despite the confusion and roar of high water, flood stricken southern California today turned an eye toward the growing totals of death and destruction as the result of the worst storm in its history, while thousands of its besieged citizens sought refuge from a menace still unabated.

With the known death toll standing at 21, property losses from rain, snow and wind which beset the southland with unprecedented violence for four days probably will total several million dollars. Five thousand persons had been driven from their homes.

A survey from reports received over limited lines of communication, showed at least twenty cities had been partly or wholly deluged. Damage to bridges alone in Los Angeles was estimated at $1,000,000.

San Diego Passes Danger Point.

San Diego stood in imminent danger of a catastrophic flood for several hours last night and early today but the waters finally receded to below the danger point. At one time engineers were considering a plan to dynamite a Santa Fe Railroad bridge there to lessen the danger because the structure had been holding back the roaring overflow. Communication was limited and the city was cut off from all wire service except one or two congested telegraph and telephone lines. No estimate of the San Diego losses could be made.

A survey of damage at Taft, which is out of the southern flood area, where a windstorm toppled over nearly 100 derricks, indicated the loss would run to $250,000.

San Francisco shippers claimed a loss of $100,000 due to the weather.

Union Pacific Railroad officials said equipment destroyed in the wreck of the roads Los Angeles-Chicago flyer at Whittier Tuesday night would represent a $150,000 loss.

Fluid damage was caused to crops, orchards, highways and homes in the San Fernando valley, where several towns were inundated.

Avalanches Cause Deaths.

The death toll in the snowslide in the mountains above Fresno reached 13 last night when coroner's reports had been checked. Two avalanches struck the camp of the southern California Edison Company there, causing the greatest tragedy of the storm. Twenty-four persons caught in the slide still are in hospitals, many of them seriously injured.

Besides San Diego and Los Angeles, the badly flooded cities include Long Beach, where 2,500 persons were driven from their homes by high water, 84 city blocks having been flooded; Venice, where 600 or more were forced to flee; Anaheim, with 20 blocks inundated, and Fullerton, where 40 blocks were under water.

At Anaheim an oil tank, undermined by flood waters, toppled over and added its 30,000 barrels of petroleum to the flood, covering the surface of the water with a greasy mixture. At Brownsdale, one of the show places of San Diego county, 6.62 inches of rain fell Tuesday night and early Wednesday.

Another Storm Coming.

While some of the rivers and creeks were reported receding and the flood crest passing, weather reports said another storm of subnormal proportions was rolling in from the Pacific. More rain today also was promised. The Pacific storm was reported to be 48 hours away.

At San Pedro storm conditions threatened to delay the departure of a section of the Pacific coast battle fleet for the Atlantic to participate in joint maneuvers with the eastern naval unit.

Traffic in the southland was paralyzed for a time, but limited train service was resumed at Los Angeles toward the east last night.

The death list included one drowning at San Diego, four from traffic accidents in Los Angeles, one death at Taft, and one at Riverside, in general of the cities the water reached a depth of three to six feet. Some places in the Mission valley of San Diego county were reported to have been under ten feet of water.

Another Quake In Jugo-Slavia

Little Town of Ljubinje Destroyed, Adding 91 More Deaths—Little Hope Held That Disturbances Are Ended.

Belgrade, Jugo Slavia, Feb. 17 (AP).—Scarcely had the populace of the Delmatia, Bosnia and Herzegovina regions of Jugo Slavia recovered from the earth tremors of Sunday and Tuesday, when at noon yesterday a new and more violent shock destroyed the little town of Ljubinje, adding ninety-one to the death roll.

The new tremors were felt also, though in lesser degree, at Sarajevo, where an avalanche, caused by the quakes, killed twelve persons on Tuesday. The population of southern Herzegovina, camping in the open despite the cold, being afraid to remain in their homes, were thrown into panic by yesterday's shocks. There was particular terror in one section when a small river disappeared through a rift in the earth's strata.

Belgrade was without figures to warrant an accurate estimate of the dead, but with announcement that 91 persons were killed at Ljubinje in the latest disturbance and the previous estimate of 100 dead in Sunday and Tuesday's quakes, it seems safe to say that at least two hundred persons lost their lives, with the possibility of the figure going higher when communication with isolated towns is restored.

Little hope is held out by the Belgrade seismological station that the disturbances are at an end.

College Youth Causes "Dry" Raid

Fleeced of $7,000 Wealthy College Youth Obtains Position As Prohibition Agent and Causes Raid on the Three Hundred Club.

New York, Feb. 17 (AP).—A wealthy college youth with a grudge against New York's great white way caused a prohibition raid early today on the Three Hundred Club and sent Texas Guinan, its popular hostess, to jail for the wee small hours.

This college youth, federal agents said, furious at having been fleeced of $7,000 in one of the night clubs, went to Washington, obtained a position as a prohibition agent and has been spending his own money in getting evidence against high class night clubs.

The agent refused to reveal the young man's identity, but it was said he with seven others, including four women agents, had been guests at various night clubs. The party was said to have been in the Three Hundred Club and tipped off the raiding party.

Girls Adopt Constitution

At the regular Wednesday night supper of the Business Girls' Club, held at the Y. W. C. A. on Wednesday evening, an unusually happy time was had. Mrs. O'Leary gave the girls a brief, simple but very helpful talk on keeping physically fit, and her advocacy of swimming as a splendid health measure was amplified by a few words in season by Alice Mac Laughlin. Members of the board of directors were present and one of the important events of the supper was the adoption of a working constitution for the Business Girls' Club. This constitution was considered article by article and then received a unanimous vote for its adoption. At the supper next week, Mrs. Putnam Cady will address the girls.

Elizabeth, N. J., Feb. 17 (AP).—Taking his life in All Saints Episcopal Church, Clark Kessler, aged 17, early today added his name to the list of 12 other students who have committed suicide in various parts of the country in the last two months. His parents could assign no motive for his act.

The janitor found the body, gas jets in the church were open and a quantity of poison lay near the body. His father is a chemist.

Additional U. S. Forces Ordered To Nicaragua

Aircraft Dispatched to Nicaraguan Zone For First Time as Precautionary Steps—No Need For More Forces, Declares Rear Admiral Latimer.

Washington, Feb. 17 (AP).—Concern for the safety of American lives and property because of the recently increased outbreaks in the Nicaraguan civil war evidently has prompted augmentation of United States naval forces in the Central American republic.

The additional forces included a company of 200 marines and a division of six airplanes, marking the dispatch of aircraft to the Nicaraguan zone for the first time. Both units were ordered from San Diego to Corinto on the west coast of Nicaragua and will be taken on the destroyer tender Melville as soon as the airplanes are made ready for shipment.

While the Washington government is hopeful that the recent conference between Rear Admiral Latimer in charge of the special service squadron in Nicaraguan waters and Dr. Juan B. Sacasa, Liberal faction leader, may inaugurate a peaceful solution of the civil warfare, it feels further precautionary steps towards the protection of American interests are necessary. Considerable anxiety is manifested by the Washington officials over the continued fighting in important towns in Nicaragua where Americans and other foreigners are residents.

In addition to the San Diego units, the naval transport Henderson, which is preparing to sail today from Philadelphia to Newport, R. I., to take board 800 bluejackets for duty with the fleet in Cuban waters, also is being held in readiness by the navy department to transport marines from the Quantico, Va., base to southern waters if need for them arises. Three cruisers, the Richmond, Cincinnati and Marblehead, which arrived yesterday at Honolulu, from Nicaragua en route to the Asiatic fleet, are being detained at the Hawaiian port to await further orders.

"No Need For More Forces."

Panama, Feb. 17 (AP).—Rear Admiral Latimer, commander of the United States special service squadron in Nicaraguan waters, says he has not requested that additional forces be sent to Nicaragua.

On his arrival here he declared: "There is really no need for them, as there already is a sufficient number of marines and bluejackets in Nicaragua to fulfill the requirements."

Admiral Latimer is en route to Corinto after conferences at Puerto Cabezas with the Liberal President Juan B. Sacasa. He characterized the conferences as "having no particular significance."

TURNER TAKES FOOD, DECIDES TO APPEAL

Portland, Me., Feb. 17 (AP).—A cup of warm milk simultaneously ended the five day hunger strike of Benjamin H. Turner and his irresolution about an appeal from the life sentence imposed on him last Friday for the slaying of James D. Hallen.

Turner drank the milk and decided to appeal. Later he took some broth and then called for an orange with breakfast.

Branded by Sheriff King F. Graham, who will have temporary custody of him until the Maine law court acts, "the most dangerous man ever to come into the state," Turner has persisted in protesting his right to kill Hallen.

Entertainment at Automobile Show For Each Night

Pleasing Program Being Planned Which Will at Least Equal Programs of Past Years—Closed Models Will Predominate But Dashing Open Models Will be Shown.

With twenty-eight different makes of automobiles on exhibition at the annual automobile show to be held here on March 1-5 inclusive, the committee in charge of the show feels that they have a big drawing card. But in order to provide entertainment for those who are not interested in the mechanical attractions a program of entertainment is being worked out which will be equal to any program ever put on at the Kingston shows in the past.

Every afternoon and evening there will be a musical program supplied by John Erne's Imperial Broadcasting orchestra. In addition to the orchestra there will be other acts of entertainment each evening.

The seventeen dealers who will show fifty-five cars of twenty-eight makes are all busy getting the various 1927 models for the show.

For those who were unable to attend the New York show, the Kingston show will provide means of comparing the various cars all under one big roof. Many mechanical changes and refinements are being shown this season in the automotive field. The closed models will be in the majority but the open car has not yet been entirely supplanted and some dashing models will probably be seen at the Kingston show.

Will Reproduce "The Captive"

New York, Feb. 17 (AP).—The entire cast of "The Captive", raided Broadway play, was enrolled today in the ranks of Horace Liveright, publisher and producer, for reproduction of the show in defiance of police mandate.

"The Captive" company had been reorganized after its partial disruption yesterday when its owners were freed of criminal charges of producing an immoral play on their promise that the production would close.

Announcement by Liveright that he intends to reproduce "The Captive" with the original cast prompted a new declaration of war from Acting Mayor McKee.

"We will meet that challenge", he said. "If Mr. Liveright attempts to put on that show he and every member of his cast will be placed under arrest". McKee added to his warning:

"Many of the dramas on the legitimate stage are downright bad, but the nudity of many cabaret performances and the shocking dialogue permitted in them is even worse. Consequently they have to be reformed if it takes the police and grand juries to put them out of business".

Revocation of night club licenses was also threatened.

Careful preparations for reproduction of "The Captive" were being made today. Liveright announced the play would reopen Monday, although he has yet to secure scenery. He declined to announce the theatre in which the show will be presented.

Ferryboats and Barges Collide

New York, Feb. 17 (AP).—Two ferryboats collided with barges in a fog that enshrouded New York today, tying up shipping and delaying ferry service. No one was injured, and the damage was slight.

The municipal ferryboat Nassau, with 100 people on board bound from St. George, Staten Island, for Brooklyn, collided with a barge and ripped out some timbers on the side of the scow.

The ferryboat Gowanus, from Brooklyn with 250 on board, struck a barge in the East river a glancing blow. Both boats proceeded on their courses.

Four coastwise ships due to arrive at Quarantine early this morning were lost in the fog, but were not in danger. They had not been reported as the fog made it impossible for observers at Ambrose lightship and at Quarantine to see passing ships.

A Staten Island ferry, with more than 2,000 commuters aboard, came within 200 yards of the Battery seawall before discovering she was nearly 200 yards from her slip. She docked safely.

The weather bureau reported that the fog extended as far inland as Scranton, Pa., and northward over the southern New England states.

Cantonese Forces Believed to Have Taken Hangchow

Troops of Marshall Sun Reported Evacuating Hangchow After Their Defeat By the Cantonese—Shanghai Almost Within Shadow of Advancing Army.

Shanghai, Feb. 17 (AP).—Hangchow, regarded as the gateway to Shanghai, was believed tonight to have fallen into the hands of the Cantonese invaders. The troops of Marshal Sun Chuan-Fang, ruler of the province of Kiangsu of which Shanghai is the chief city, were reported evacuating Hangchow after their defeat by the Cantonese.

Fighting was taking place in the outskirts of Hangchow, city of 800,000 population, as early as last night, said a foreigner who arrived here by train. The soldiers of Marshal Sun were falling back then, demoralized, before the Cantonese onslaught.

Foreign authorities here believe Marshal Sun has finally lost Chekiang province unless he receives reinforcements from the Shantung northern army. No Shantung support has been forthcoming.

The capture of Hangchow would place Shanghai, with its large foreign settlement and rich revenues from maritime customs, almost within the shadow of the advancing Cantonese.

Largest Portion of Task Over.

When the southerners started their offensive with Shanghai as the objective, their supporters here declared that if Hangchow fell into their hands, the largest portion of their task was over. Control of that city, they explained, would enable the nationalists to transport by water supplies and artillery that heretofore have been lugged on human backs over tortuous mountain roads and trails.

The Nationalist report of Hangchow's fall said that Sun's force, having divided into three sections, fled toward Shanghai, Soochow and the province of Anhwei. This could not be confirmed. It was known, however, that the capture of the city by the southerners seemed imminent. While the Nationalists rushed in reinforcements from Fukien province, Sun's troops wavered, their morale shaken perhaps more by the enemy's broadside of propaganda than by powder and shot.

In the other active war sector, Honan province, to the north and west, far in the interior, no actual fighting has been reported, but the troops of the northern armies continue to advance, preparatory to their attack upon the Cantonese controlled upper Yangtze river valley. The Shantze, allies of Marshal Chang Tso-Lin, generalissimo of the northern forces, were reported to have passed Kaifeng, Capital of the province and were nearing Chengchow, an important rail center.

WANDERED FROM HOSPITAL FOUND IN HOUSE NEARBY

David Hull, a patient in the Benedictine Hospital, shortly after 10 o'clock Wednesday evening wandered away from the hospital clad only in a bath robe, a pair of pajamas and bed room slippers. The police department was notified and half an hour later the hospital called up and stated that Hull had been found in a house near the hospital which he had entered. He was taken back to the hospital.

Robert J. Powers Dies at Albany

Secretary of The Democratic State Committee Dies After Several Weeks' Illness—Long a Familiar Figure In State Political Circles.

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 17 (AP).—Robert J. Powers of Binghamton, secretary of the Democratic State Committee, died in Memorial Hospital today of septicaemia with complications. He had been ill for several weeks.

Mr. Powers, long a familiar figure in New York state political circles, was taken to the hospital early in December. His illness developed soon after the November elections. He had been semi-conscious during the last fortnight.

Born in Watervliet fifty-nine years ago, Mr. Powers entered the state service as a young man, taking a stenographic position in the executive department during the governorship of David B. Hill. Later he moved to Binghamton and became secretary to Dr. Charles Wagner, superintendent of the state hospital.

Serving as alderman and later as president of the common council of Binghamton, Mr. Powers later became secretary to William W. Farley of Albany and Binghamton when the latter was appointed state excise commissioner in 1911 by Governor Dix.

Mr. Farley's selection as chairman of the Democratic state committee in 1916 was followed by the naming of Mr. Powers as secretary, and he had since held that position.

He is survived by Mrs. Powers and a niece, Miss Florence Collin of Binghamton. The funeral and burial will be at Binghamton.

Another Student Takes Own Life

Edith M. Stewart, Elmira College Senior, Fearing a Reprimand, Swallows Poison and Dies Within an Hour.

Elmira, N. Y., Feb. 17 (AP).—Another name was added today to the lengthening list of youthful students who have died by their own hands.

The latest victim is Edith M. Stewart, 23 year old Elmira College senior, whose home was in Tuxedo Park, N. Y. Fearing a reprimand because of a minor infraction of college rules, the girl swallowed poison and died within an hour.

Friends said Miss Stewart, who was an assistant to Dr. Caroline Lawrence of the faculty, recently received permission to spend a week end with a chum, but instead went to Ithaca. The girl told her she might be suspended for a year and they said she feared to face her mother.

The girl's mother declined to comment on the suicide but explained that her father intended to press an inquiry. He was expected here today.

River Ice Is Still Holding

Heavy Fog Enveloped River and City During Morning Hours—Ferry Made All Its Trips—Only Open Water in River Is Ferry Track.

A heavy fog enveloped the Hudson river and the city during the morning hours today and did not lift until near noon. On the river the fog was extremely dense but it did not prevent the ferry Transport from making all of the regular morning trips. At noon the fog on the river lifted slightly.

The ice holds in the Hudson river and is holding fast and there is no indication of it breaking up as the ice is not honeycombed. The only open water in the river is the track of the ferry, but on either side of the track the ice is holding firm.

In the Rondout creek there is open water from the inland dock to the mouth of the creek, due to the pounding of the ferry, which helps to keep the ice broken up.

Business Men Talk Improved Road And More Lights

Downtown Business Men's Association Favors Improvement of East Kingston Road—Preparing for Big Banquet on February 24 at Jewish Community Center.

A regular meeting of the Downtown Business Men's Association was held Wednesday night at the rooms, 22 Ferry street. The banquet to be held on Thursday, February 24, was one of the main topics discussed. The repairing of the road that leads from Ponckhockie to East Kingston and Glasco was also discussed and street lighting was talked over.

The banquet will be held in the Jewish Community Center at 7 p. m. promptly and all who expect to attend are requested to be at the hall at that time. Prompt arrival will eliminate interruptions after the serving has been started and also the disturbing of the speakers. Tickets for the banquet are now on sale by a committee, the members of which are calling upon the merchants to dispose of tickets. If by any chance an interested party in the furthering of the Downtown Business Men's cause is overlooked, the men selling tickets will be glad to have the fact made known to them before it is too late. Monday will be the last day to purchase tickets. Conrad J. Heiselman, secretary of the association, will also be glad to furnish tickets to those who are not called upon by the committee members.

The East Kingston Road.

The repairing of the road leading from the termination of the Strand to East Kingston and Glasco was thoroughly discussed. Mr. Tigar, who operates a bus line over the thoroughfare, was an invited guest of the business men and he imparted much information concerning the situation to the merchants.

Mr. Tigar gave a very complete description of the road and in his talk took the members of the association directly from the terminal on the Strand to the other terminal in East Kingston. He called attention that the space between the trolley rails on lower Strand was not filled in. He minutely told of the ruts and muddy condition over the four and three-quarter miles of roadway and explained that instead of the road having a crown to eliminate surface water from the middle, the thoroughfare is equipped with elevations on the sides, which keeps the muddy pools in the part of the road where vehicles have to run. Mr. Tigar has traveled over the road for the past two years and claimed that the snow is never removed from it and that it needs widening, especially in the vicinity of Steep Rocks. He also made the fact known that there is more traffic on the road than on the upper or Flatbush route and stated that the residents of Glasco and East Kingston would use the thoroughfare more if it were in the proper condition. Mr. Tigar said he would be able to put on additional and more modern public carriers if the road were repaired and brought out that it would mean more business for the city of Kingston.

Worse Than Flooded Districts.

Mr. Tigar said that he had driven autos for the past 12 years and never encountered a road in the condition of the one over which he is now traveling daily. He stated that the thoroughfares along the branches of the Mississippi that are flooded part of the year are not in as poor condition as the East Kingston Road. He said he appreciated the kindness of Terry Brothers who allowed him to pass through their brickyard while the clay from the big slide blocked the road and called attention to the fact that the owners of the Staples plant fixed the portion of the road that passes their yard. Mr. Tigar said that near the brickyard operated by the Kingston Brick & Ice Company, the road was in very bad condition and that a large excavation forced traffic to abandon the road and take a hooked-shaped course over a muddy section.

Pledges Association's Help.

President Stern said that the organization would take the matter up with Mr. Tigar when the common council again met and would do all possible to have the road fixed for the benefit of those who are paying taxes and live along the route.

Mr. Alton of the Downtown Business Men's Association wanted to be sure that the customers who ride on the East Kingston bus received the best of service. He questioned Mr. Tigar concerning the number of trips and whether or not the people were taken to the proper terminals. Mr. Tigar assured the association that it was rendering the best service possible and that patrons could expect at least the hour wherever they wished.

Street Lighting Situation.

President Stern spoke of the fact that the lights applied for by the merchants were not put on the downtown streets. He said that $700 was appropriated for the purpose of street lighting and that the uptown and downtown sections were properly given lights to the amount specified in the budget. There were three lights added to those on the downtown streets.

President Stern called attention to the Central Hudson Bulletin, published by the Central Hudson Electric Company, which contained articles and pictures commending the way in which the recent Christmas sale was conducted and attributing praise for the way in which the streets and community Christmas tree were illuminated.

WINTER SPORTS IN SUMMERLAND

Countries of the Tropics Have Games and Fetes Peculiarly Their Own.

By T. A. KEAN

Chicago.—While winter sports in the North are confined largely to affairs that are concerned with ice and snow, the tropics and the West Indies boast winter sports some of which are peculiarly their own. Golf, to be sure, is popular there as a year-round sport. Water sports, however, hold chief place, but there are other athletic diversions strenuous enough to appease the appetite for excitement.

All the diving champions are not known to the athletic world. In the harbor of Bridgetos, Barbados, are some of the most expert divers to be found anywhere. On a recent visit of the Canadian Pacific steamship Montroyal to that port some of the native boys dived from the top of the ship, 75 feet above the water, down to the bottom, got a handful of mud, swam under the ship, about thirty-five feet, and came up on the other side through about forty or fifty feet of water. Quite some feat, if you should ask us. This is only one of the many equally thrilling water stunts performed by the natives of the Bahamas.

Unique Swimming Pool.

On the island of Gaspares, Trinidad, is the most unique swimming pool in the world in a fairyland cave 200 feet underground and 45 feet deep, but the water is so clear that it appears to be four or five feet deep. The cave is a bewildering fantasy of colors, spotlighted with sunshine from a break in the roof far overhead.

In Havana, there is horse racing in winter, and the visitor to this city should not miss a jai alai (high low) game. This is the Spanish national ball game, handball, but our way of playing it is mild in comparison. It is played by two-men teams on a paved cement court 210 feet in length by 16 feet in width. In a sort of grooved and curved basket, strapped to their hands, the players catch and throw the ball much like a boxer giving a full arm swing blow. The players, professionals most of them, are on their toes all the time, and if you think of any existent game to compare with it, for strenuosity of action, let me know of it. There are no innings and time is only called by the referee who is in charge after about thirty minutes of the fastest volleying ever seen. The spectators around the court shout and clamor for their favorites to win, and the wagers made with "bookmakers" almost rival those made at the race tracks in the United States. Society attends in full force.

Variety of Sports.

The Bermudas are a cluster of islands lying in the path of the Gulf stream, with an even temperature rarely descending below 60 degrees. Water polo and golf are the most popular sports.

Golf under smiling southern skies is a most pleasant part of a West Indies cruise.

Soccer football, as we know it, is an autumn or winter game, too active for summer. Imagine getting off the steamship on a Sunday morning in February or March, wearing summer sports clothes, with the temperature between 90 and 100 in the shade, and no shade, and finding two teams of colored men playing soccer football. This will greet you at Port au Prince, Haiti. The whole town will seem on a holiday and will be found on the side lines rooting for their team and having as much fun as we do at a world series baseball game.

Regular British sports, football, cricket, etc., are engaged in at Jamaica, but at Caracao, Dutch West Indies, if you inquire what the greatest sport on the island is, the natives will tell you with a smile, telling the "forbidden" to visiting Americans.

Luque's Way

Havana.—Anybody who casts aspersion on the baseball integrity of Senor Adolfo Luque of Havana and Cincinnati should be beyond his reach. A bleacherite yelled that a game was being thrown and the senor climbed right into the grandstand after him. His climb was stopped by the police.

Huge Sawfish Caught on Beach at Sydney

Sydney.—While Manly beach, Sydney's beach resort, was crowded with bathers recently, alarm was raised from the shore that a shark had been cruising just beyond the breakers. Voluntary life-savers who patrol the beach immediately put out a surf boat, and captured a giant sawfish.

Sawfishes are not common round the Australian coasts, but are occasionally brought down off the coast of New South Wales from the tropical haunts by a warm equatorial current.

Sometimes small ones are brought up in trawling nets, but the Manly capture was the largest of his species ever landed here. He was 18 feet 2 inches from the tip of his five-foot beak to the end of his tail. The beak itself contained 34 teeth.

Tough for Leo

Brussels, Belgium.—Crown Prince Leopold and his bride, Astrid of Sweden, must struggle along on a paltry $60,000 a year. Plans to give them more had been declared unconstitutional.

SCIENTIST SAYS AMAZONS WERE MEN WITHOUT BEARDS

Declares Greeks Mistook Sex of Ancient Warriors on Account of Their Shaven Faces.

Philadelphia.—The centuries-old legend about the Amazons, a nation of female warriors who carried fire and sword to ancient Greece, Asia Minor, Arabia, Syria and Egypt, was declared a myth by Dr. J. L. Myres, secretary of the British Association for the Advancement of Science, who was here recently attending the meetings of the American association.

The Amazons, according to Doctor Myres, were not women at all but men who had shaved and consequently looked like women to the bearded Greeks, who first gave them a place in history.

Professor Myres declares careful study of recent archeological evidence clears up the mystery of the Amazons. Their shaven appearance, he adds, either led their foes to believe them women, or they were called women in contempt for the effeminacy of their appearance.

Archeologists, said Doctor Myres, have found representations of beardless men in the Hittite monuments on a plateau near the headwaters of the Sagarius river, the modern Sakaria, in Asia Minor. By deciphering the Hittite language it has been learned that these men actually participated in the wars against the Greeks when the Amazon legend originated.

At about 1250 B. C. the fashion for beardless men among the Hittites suddenly ended, the monuments show. Doctor Myres believes the Hittites decided a succession of defeats by bearded warriors of other nations was due to the fact that their faces were shaven and they decided to let their whiskers grow.

Choked by False Teeth, S O S Brings Relief

Boston.—Two false teeth in a seaman's throat led to a call for help from the British steamer Zimorodok recently. The steamer Thuringia of the Hamburg-American line answered the call and arrived here with the seaman aboard. He was taken to a hospital.

The Zimorodok left Philadelphia for Hamburg. A few days later Eric Jonsson, a Swedish sailor, awoke to find that two false teeth had dropped from their pivots and lodged in his throat. There was no doctor aboard and Jonsson was in danger of suffocation. The steamer flashed a radio call for help.

The Thuringia picked up the message, but, due to bad weather, was unable to come alongside until afternoon. Six men manned a lifeboat, carried the ship's doctor through heavy seas to the Zimorodok and brought the seaman back. The doctor was able to relieve his suffering, but could not remove the teeth, which now have worked farther down into his body.

Blacksmith and Horseshoe Schools

Final arrangements for holding the two blacksmithing and horseshoeing schools have been completed, according to the announcement from the Farm Bureau headquarters. Professor Asmus, the blacksmithing specialist from the State College of Agriculture, will arrive in Kingston early Tuesday morning, February 22, and will go immediately to the first school which is to be held at Hurley starting at 10 a. m. Mrs. John Brodhead of Hurley has donated the use of her blacksmith shop for the day and the demonstration will be conducted there. The Hurley Home Bureau is holding a meeting on the same day and has made arrangements to serve a hot luncheon to the men in the church hall at 12:30.

The second school is to be held on Wednesday, February 23, on the farm of Levi s Lattimer of Kerhonkson. Mr Lattimer has a home shop on his farm the use of which he is donating for the demonstration. This meeting will start promptly at 10 a. m. Those attending are requested to bring along a lunch, as no arrangements have been made for a dinner. Reports coming in to the office from all sections of the county indicate widespread interest in these two schools and a large attendance is anticipated. Professor Asmus is without question the leading authority in New York state on horseshoeing and blacksmithing work. This marks his initial trip to Ulster county. All farmers in the county are cordially invited to attend

Assembly Passes Appropriation

Albany, N. Y., Feb. 17 (AP).—The Assembly today passed the largest annual appropriation bill in the history of the state, carrying a total of approximately $147,000,000 for the support of government. The bill is identical with the bill which passed the Senate yesterday, but is not the same bill, due to the fact that the question was raised today of the legality of the Senate's action on the measure yesterday. It was claimed the bill had not been on the members' desks on the order of final passage for three full days, as required by the Constitution.

When the Senate bill reached the Assembly today, it was referred to the ways and means committee, and the Assembly proceeded to pass its own measures. The bill was then sent to the Senate, where it received immediate action.

Her second was, "To The Spring," by Greig. Miss Handler's playing was enjoyed by the students and faculty and it is hoped that she will favor them with some more selections in the future.

Local Electric System Effective

Interconnected Transmission System Put to Severe Test Recently But Showed Wisdom of Theory Under Which It Was Developed.

The very severe wind storm which swept over this section of the country recently, leaving in its wake fallen chimneys, broken windows, uprooted trees and considerable damage to property generally, provided an excellent test for the interconnected transmission system which has been developed for the supply of electricity to the Central Hudson region by the Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corporation.

A review of the interruptions to service, as a result of this very unusual storm, shows that the experience in the territory supplied by the Central Hudson System was comparable with best practice in this section of the country. The complete returns indicate that the only serious interruption to service on transmission system of the Central Hudson Company occurred at 1:30 a. m., February 4, for a period of five minutes when the storm reached its height, when a tree was blown across the high tension circuits of the steel tower transmission line north of Kingston, cutting off service at that point. There were longer interruptions in the distribution system in restricted areas when wires were down or severed and had to be replaced or reconnected, but the only interruption of this entire city service was that cited.

Long Interruptions Elsewhere.

Whether or not service could have been restored in less than five minutes, it nevertheless appears that the record of service during this unusual storm is an excellent one for the Central Hudson System and affords an important check on the design of the system and the original theory under which it has been developed. Interruptions of one and two hours in important centers are reported on the transmission systems in surrounding sections. Minor interruptions on the distribution systems throughout the valley caused by falling trees or branches were handled expeditiously by local crews.

The development of transmission systems interconnected with the transmission systems of adjacent companies or groups of companies has been one of the interesting advances in the art in the electrical industry during the past few years. The Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corporation has been a pioneer in the construction of such a system to provide for the present and future needs of the Central Hudson valley. An interconnected system has been developed which is connected with the most economical sources of supply in this region to provide for continuity of service in cases of emergency, when service can be obtained from several different sources as soon as switching operations can be completed and the lines sectionalized. Capacity is available not only from the company's own steam and hydro electric generating plants, but also from the north or the south.

The Alternative Method.

The alternative method of supplying the requirements of the various cities of the Central Hudson valley with service would be to develop individual power plants for each local situation. It has been demonstrated repeatedly that the interconnected system provides for greater continuity of service than is the case with individual plants. It appears that in the recent wind storm, one of the walls and chimney on a power house in the territory of a neighboring company were blown down and service interrupted thereby. It will also be recalled that a summer wind storm of unusual violence lifted the heavy tiles from the roof of the Poughkeepsie generating station several years ago and shut it down for a considerable interval of time.

The interconnected transmission system of the Central Hudson Gas & Electric Corporation has met emergencies quickly and adequately, and has effectively demonstrated that it represents the best modern practice in providing the type of service which makes for the best development of the communities which it serves.

"A POLITICAL OLIGARCHY."

President Grant was quoted as saying that there were three political parties in the United States, "the Republican, the Democratic and the Methodist"—referring to the Methodist Church North, from which that of the South was and still is separated. Writing to the New York World, R. Carlton Wright, editor of the Columbus, S. C., Record, says in part.

The Board of Temperance, Prohibition and Public Morals of the Methodist Episcopal Church North is not a religious body. There is nothing in or about it that represents the Southern Methodist tradition. It is, on the contrary, purely a political organization and, so far as the South is concerned, it has no weight or influence in these regions. It was in this part of the republic that the evangelical doctrines, or Methodism, of John and Charles Wesley were first expounded, and there was never anything in their teachings that resembles the political vagaries of the lobby of the Methodist Episcopal Church North, which is now trying to control our National Government through this board of alleged temperance, prohibition and public morals. It is a matter of complete indifference to me to what extent the Methodist reformers may attempt to bulldoze the political poltroons in Washington. But when this religio-political oligarchy, aping the political methods of the prelates of the middle ages, undertake to dictate to either party who is eligible or who is not or may not be eligible for the Presidential nomination in 1928, it is time to tell it where it gets off.

Editor Wright not only employs vigorous English to tell the ponderously-entitled board "where it gets off," but warns the Democratic party, which can be "adequately foolish" in a crisis, that it might as well let designing Republicans "pick out candidates for us" as to leave the important task to the "arch-hypocrites" of the Board of Temperance, Prohibition and Public Morals of the Methodist Episcopal Church North.

"CROPPING" TIMBER.

"A shift from a 'mining' to a 'cropping' system of timber utilization," is a new phrase used to describe the changing attitude of the American people with regard to making forest lands more productive.

The old system consisted in extracting timber much as metals have to be mined from the earth, making the most of available supplies. It looked upon a stand of timber as upon a lode of metal—to be used once. The cropping system looks upon trees as upon any other self-perpetuating crop, to be so developed as to give the highest yield over an endless period of time.

One of the principal advantages of the cropping system is that it often improves the entire stand by removing trees that are too crowded, and by eliminating underbrush which often leads to forest fires. As the success of the large lumber companies in applying this system becomes known, the small owners of forest lands throughout the country, will doubtless be induced to take it up.

It is stated that in the course of 25 years 2,500,000,000 Gillett safety razor blades have been sold, and probably the sale of the other makes on the market added would more than double that number. One question suggested is what becomes of the billions of razor blades after they have been used and discarded. Is it mere waste material that goes into the ash cans, to the peril of barefooted boys who in summer adventure upon the dumps at filling-in points? It was reported recently that in England the metal tubes inclosing cold cream and the like were being collected for sale with a view to endow additional hospital beds. We are not yet so saving in this prosperous and prodigal country, yet one would think some effort would be made to utilize the valuable material in the billions of discarded safety razor blades.

Fourteen per cent of all New York farms are electrically equipped, whereas but 3.5 per cent of the farms of the nation as a whole are served. The 7,411 miles of rural system New York now counts, nearly $16,000,000. This has been done without state ownership, but with the just interests of both producer and consumer amply protected by state regulation. It has been a business transaction between business men, not a special privilege provided by the state at a loss paid largely by those who received none of the benefits. The difference in results between state socialism and properly conducted business is clearly shown New York farmers, neither receiving nor pleading for special privilege at the expense of others, have their farms electrically equipped to the extent of four times the average percentage for the nation.

THE PROLONGED HEAD COLD.

Sometimes that ordinary cold that is so prevalent in the winter months seems to cause considerable pain about the face and forehead, in addition to the usual symptoms of obstruction of the nose. Perhaps after a week's time the pain grows worse instead of better. This pain may be in forehead, in cheek, or in the eye socket.

What has happened?

Adjoining the nose are little sinuses or caverns, and the inflammation of the mucous membrane of the nose simply extends into these sinuses, being just like the floor of a house, which, if you spilled some water on the floor of one room, this water if there were enough of it, would extend along the floor to other rooms, the one floor being continuous into all the rooms.

If the pain is in the forehead on one side, it is the sinus above the eye that is affected. Pain in the face means that the infection is in the sinus of the upper jaw bone above the grinding teeth.

Pain near the inner side of the eye, and the eye socket also suggests the involvement of another sinus, and so forth.

Now although the inflammation extends into these sinuses, as they drain into the nose, the patient is usually able to clear them by simply blowing the nose.

However sometimes the inflammation results in the formation of mucous or pus that it too thick to come through the small openings into the nose, and it remains there, setting up pain and a congested feeling. Even this condition usually clears up by rest, attention to the intestine, and breathing in steam through the nose and out through the mouth.

The steam most frequently used and recommended by a British specialist is to put a teaspoonful of Tincture of Benzion Co., or Friar's Balsam in a small mouthed jug, put a towel over the head and jug, pour boiling water on balsam, and the patient inhales for five full minutes or as long as the steam arises.

At times however the little openings into the nose become completely blocked, and it then becomes necessary to have a nose specialist open them up again.

Sinusitis, as this inflammation of these sinuses is called, is now more clearly understood, and adequate treatment is now available.

TWENTY AND TEN YEARS AGO.

ULSTER COUNTY HISTORY CLUB

Beeckman is the name of an old patrician family, perhaps they did in some early time live at the Beek, Dutch for brook. And Van derLyn may have lived on the River Lyn, Van Rensselaer on the Rensel, Province of Groningen.

Kiersted, has a tradition origin of something like 400 A. D. Going back to the wild tribe known as Kiers, who had a certain tree where their annual gathering was held, then becoming the town or homestead, as civilization advanced. It is said by L. P. deBoer, that documents relating to land transactions, have mention of this ancestral tree. Unfortunately in the pedigree he has developed, the missing link which accounts for at least two generations before Surgeon Hans Kiersted is missing. But the name Kiers was local in the Province of Drenthe, once a part of the Frisian Groningen, where their public records exist as early at 900 A. D.

Hasebrouck is Dutch says Mr Van Buren. Yet Jean came from Calais his record says, and those of the name claim a French origin. Hazebrouck is southwest of Dunkirk's Flemish

Be that as it may Mr. Van Buren has justification for his statement and his translation The Hague (den Haag) was the site, originally, of a hunting lodge of the Counts of Holland, after the middle of the 13th century, their chief seat. The Knight's Hall, of the time of Floris V, is where the States General convene. Not far out is the old Kasteel Wassenaar, toward Leyden, and before reaching there Hazebrook Road is passed. It has every appearance of being the entrance to a private estate. At Alphen-on-the-Rhine, I saw the name over a place of business What the origin of the family, I know not. Hazen is plural of haze. So the hare's brook or marsh could have given the name to the estate. Families frequently derived their names in just that way, as well as from towns. I saw Hoeven Berg on two gates of a residence.

The Birth of Democracy

A TAX collector of King Edward II, by insulting the daughter of Wat Tyler, a blacksmith of Deptford in Kent, first aroused the spirit of democracy in England and started contention between oppressor and oppressed, between capital and labor that was to develop into the paramount political issue in most countries of the earth.

In 1381 parliament levied a tax of one shilling on every person in England above the age of fifteen years. The injustice of a tax that fell as heavily on the poor as on the rich stirred the British commons to deep resentment.

When Wat Tyler heard that a collector of this tax had insulted his daughter he sallied forth with a hammer and knocked the fellow down. The peasants of Kent applauded and soon a great mob had gathered to defend Tyler against the king's vengeance. John Ball, "the mad priest of Kent," the first socialistic reformer, had already gained a large following by preaching that property should be held in common.

John Ball contended that Bible teaching did not contemplate a race of gentlemen and race of serfs, popularizing his theory with the jingle: "When Adam delved and Eve span, Who was then the gentleman?"

Finding himself the leader of a hundred thousand enraged Kentishmen, with Jack Straw, Hob Carter and Tom Miller as his lieutenants, Wat Tyler marched through England gathering adherents of John Ball's philosophy and killing every lawyer who fell into his hands. Homes of stewards and records of manor courts were cast into flames.

Noblemen fled from London at the approach of the peasants, who promptly took the city. The young king, Richard II, addressed the mob from a barge on the Thames and later rode out to meet the rioters at Mile-End, where he promised to free all serfs and give the peasants their land. Later the king encountered Wat Tyler, himself, and the mob leader behaved with such sturdy independence that a knight in the king's train slew him.

The king kept his word in part and eventually serfdom was abolished in England. And the movement Wat Tyler headed, developed into a demand for the rights of man that has never slumbered since.

Charles Ramsey Writes of Travels

Kingstonian Sends Interesting Account of His Trip to South Africa to Fellow Members of Rotary Club.

Kingston Rotary Club held a speechless luncheon at the Governo. Clinton this week and everybody was exceedingly happy. Perhaps it was a hang-over from the Mendelssohn Club concert that made up the program, as it was an entirely musical occasion. There were solos by J. George Ribbie, organist and choirmaster of Trinity M. E. Church, who has a melodious voice of almost miraculous volume, and then there was music by Jimmie Connor's orchestra, which was greatly enjoyed and appreciated. This orchestra is from Reade's theatre and was guided, guarded and chaperoned by Manager Texier, who seemed to enjoy the task.

The following letter was received by the Rotary Club from Charles Ramsey, one of its members, who is on a trip to South Africa:

On Board, Jan. 24, 1927.

Trinidad, our first stop, has many nicknames such as, "The Magnificent," "the home of the humming bird," and "the place where oysters grow on trees." This last name interested me very much so I asked for an explanation. Here it is. The palm branches often bend into the water and oysters attach themselves to the leaves. At low tide these leaves are above water and the oysters may be gathered easily.

Trinidad is surely a beautiful island. The foliage is luxuriant and tropical flowers of every description are to be seen. The climate is healthy but of course very hot. We were very fortunate for a breeze was blowing making it very delightful.

Port of Spain, where we stopped, is very progressive. The homes and streets are lighted by electricity. The electric trolleys go in many directions. Public buildings and stores are up to date. This does not include the native quarter which is very primitive. The mud huts have thatched roofs and are just filthy hovels.

The first item of interest to me was a woman, walking along the docks smoking a pipe.

The sightseeing included a 16 mile drive over the saddle back drive, which took us through cocoa, coffee and cocoanut plantations. It was indeed interesting The coffee bean grows on branches, containing bunches of pods about a half inch long. When opened the green bean (two to a pod) are seen.

Cocoa pods are large and grow out of the bark at intervals. They are either red, green or yellow, according to ripeness.

The cocoanut plantations are pictures.

On the drive one boy asked if we would like him to do the Charleston, the latest dance.

One tree was peculiar. It has a very wide spread and its bark is fertile, any seed planted in it will grow.

We had our lunch at the Queen's Park Hotel, an up-to-date place. On the menu appeared the word "pastilles," and being curious, I ordered some. It was chopped meat, rolled in cornmeal and baked in a leaf. It tasted good.

Monkeys are plentiful and can be purchased at small cost. We took some movies of them.

One place we did not visit is the pitch lake which is about 56 miles around. It supplies almost all of the asphalt used in the large cities of the world. The railroad tracks used in transporting the material are moved every three days. Otherwise they would disappear.

Life on shipboard is just one round of pleasure. Card playing, deck games, concerts, lectures, movies, etc., make the days pass all too quickly.

King Neptune boarded the ship the day we crossed the equator and the usual proceedings took place. Again the movie camera came into use. If all goes well we hope to have a movie soon after we get home.

Enough for now. Next stop is at Rio, after which another letter will be written.

My regards to the boys of Rotary.

CHAS. RAMSEY.

FEED YOUR PLANTS!

Easy to Have Beautiful Potted Plants If You Use These Handy Tablets Now and Then.

There used to be a common saying that success with plants is due to "luck." That was never true for plants are living creatures and require care and certain essentials.

Plants drink, breathe and eat. Therefore, plants need water, air, sunshine and food.

Now anybody can have beautiful plants and blooming flowers by using Fertilis Tablets, little pellets of concentrated plant food that are veritable "life-savers" for plants. You simply place a Fertilis Tablet near the root and then the new life and vitality starts its work. Plants quickly take on new life and vigor. Fertilis Tablets are truly wonderful for all kinds of plants—Palms, Ferns and varieties you have thought of as "hard to raise." One or two Tablets in the water, prolong the freshness and beauty of cut flowers, too. A box of 100 Fertilis Tablets costs but 35c. A can of 1,000 can be had for $2.00. Druggists, Florists and Seed Houses supply Fertilis Tablets. Get a box today. If you can't get them readily, order direct from International Agricultural Corporation, 61 Broadway, New York.

DADDY'S EVENING FAIRY TALE

by Mary Graham Bonner

COPYRIGHT BY WESTERN NEWSPAPER UNION

THE TEN-CENT PIECE

"Oh," said the Ten-Cent Piece, "I have been so miserable."

"What has been the matter?" asked the Penny, brightly, for it was a bright penny, and although it had no great value it was a bright and pleasant little piece.

"I have been with the same person for ages and I just hate staying still.

"I like to move. Of course I am quite willing and even pleased if I am being saved for something. I was saved for a long time once to go toward a birthday present for some one and again I was saved for circus money and again I was saved for Fourth of July money and Christmas money.

"But all of that is different. I hate just to stay in some one's pocket and feel as uncomfortable and ashamed as I have felt."

"Dear me," said the Penny, "you have got the blues. Well, aren't you happy now?"

"Yes," said the Ten-Cent Piece, "but you know it takes a little time to get over a long series of sad times."

"Will it make you feel better if you tell me about it?" asked the Penny.

"I do believe so," the Ten-Cent Piece said.

"You're a helpful little thing, Penny," said the Ten-Cent Piece. "Now," it continued, "I didn't mean to speak to you in that rather superior way but I've got into bad habits.

"It Will Be My Treat Today."

"I don't like them and I'll break myself soon of them but I still seem to say such things a little bit.

"You see, I was in the pocket of a little boy who had plenty of money but he never wanted to spend any of it.

"Now you might think that such a boy would not want to see others spend money.

"You might think from the way he acted himself that he was against the spending of money and that he thought it foolish and all that sort of thing.

"But that wasn't the way he was. He liked to have others spend money and he liked to be treated and see how often he could get things done for him without doing anything in return, or anything in the way of taking part.

"And those times when I used to long to get out of his pocket and couldn't do anything of my own accord.

"I think he used to know the way I felt, because he would sometimes put his hand in his pocket and fumble with me a little and maybe I would hear him say:

"'Oh, it will be my treat today.'

"But nothing like that ever happened. He would wait until some one would get their money out first, and he would only pretend that he was going to pay.

"Yet there was no one I have ever known, and I have known a good many people, who used to talk so much about mean people.

"That was the worst of it.

"You see, if he wasn't treated as much as he thought he ought to be he was very angry.

"He had grown to expect everything should be done for him, yet he had as much as most and more than many.

"Oh, it was dreadful the way he expected so much of everyone.

"Whatever another had he expected it is to be shared with him and by getting so many shares in so many different ways he got so he used people all the time.

"They say grown-ups do that, and I've known it to be true, and I've known boys do it, too, and even girls. At any rate I knew this little boy.

"Of course you will wonder how I happened to be spent after all. He lost me! The most remarkable thing was that for he had always guarded me so safely. As a rule I hate to be lost for that isn't the way to feel a part of things and to enjoy one's self, but this time I was so glad. And I was picked up by the one who has you."

"Mercy me," said the Penny, "I believe we're going to separate. I'm going to be spent. Well, I may meet you again some time. Speak to your little Penny friend even if I'm not so bright then." And the Ten-Cent Piece happily agreed.

Catch the Cat, Please

"Please, Miss Brown, may I have my arrow?"

"Yes, dear, certainly," the next-door neighbor answered, beaming. "Where did it fall?"

"I think," the small boy replied, "it's stuck in your cat."—Baltimore Evening News.

Holy Name to Hold Big Rally

A rally of 100,000 members of the Holy Name Society, the largest of its kind ever to be held in this country, has been arranged to take place in the Yankee Stadium, New York, at 3 o'clock on the afternoon of Sunday, May 22, according to an announcement made by Peter J. Maloney, president of the Archdiocesan Holy Name Union.

The rally will bring together in one place for the first time the members of the 325 branches of the society under the jurisdiction of Cardinal Hayes. No parade is planned and the ceremonies will be limited to a benediction by Cardinal Hayes, an address by the same Prelate and an address by a speaker of national importance yet to be selected.

Headquarters for those making the arrangements for the rally have been established at No. 111 West 72nd street, New York. In the absence of Bishop Dunn in Europe, the work is being directed by the Rev. Eugene J. Callahan. The rally will bring together members of the society from Richmond, Manhattan, Bronx, Westchester, Putnam, Dutchess, Orange, Rockland, Sullivan and Ulster counties.

FEDERATED COUNCIL P.-T. A. OBSERVES FOUNDER'S DAY

The February meeting of the Federated Council of Parent-Teacher Associations was combined with a birthday party in honor of Founder's Day, the 30th anniversary of the organization of Mothers' Clubs and Parent-Teachers' Associations.

The party was arranged by Miss Marguerite Cordes of the high school faculty. The refreshments were provided and served by some of the Domestic Science Class girls under the supervision of the two teachers, Miss Schnitzler and Miss Stockwell. All were seated around a long table spread in one of the lunch rooms of the high school. The table was artistically decorated with flowers and candles in glass candlesticks. The center of the table was occupied by a large birthday cake decorated with 30 candles. The candles were lit by Mrs. W. R. Anderson and extinguished by Mrs. W. J. Whiston, both charter members of the council. Mrs. Harry P. Dederick, president of the council, presided at the table and cut the cake. Mrs. Anderson gave a brief account of "Founder's Day" and read a memorial tribute to Mrs. Theodore W. Bierney of Georgia and Mrs. Phoebe A. Hearst of California, the two women through whose efforts the organization was established. This tribute was written by Mrs. David O. Mears, national chairman for Founder's Day.

A letter was read from Mrs. Harry Simmons, district chairman, telling about the five-day P.-T. A. Institute for which arrangements are being made to hold at Cornell College in May or June. The desirability of sending at least the council president was discussed and thought favorably of as this institute will be held for the purpose of training leaders for the P.-T. A. work.

An entertainment for the benefit of the Federated Council will be held on March 18. Each P.-T. A. is to be responsible for furnishing at least one number and judging by the reports given, the program promises to be a most attractive one and contains considerable variety.

LAST NIGHT on the RADIO

"In The Good Old Summer Time" would have been most appropriate music for broadcasting Wednesday night, as the static was of the real summer variety, just like that caused by an electric storm not far away. The only thing missing was the visible flashes of lightning. The storm waned as the evening advanced and doubtless the Nighthawks heard the "Mikado" and other late features with pleasure. The south seemed strong, and WSB and WJAX were tuned in easily. KDKA was clear and loud part of the time. WCX was fair and WLS not bad, but as a general thing reception of DX stations was comparatively weak. It is wonderful that there is any reception at all, considering the way signals are mixed and piled up by the 700 stations that are broadcasting where there is room for not more than 300.

Maisenhelder's Orchestra gave an hour of enjoyable music over WDBZ. As this came while static was at its worst it was appreciated by those fans who are never happy unless the set is tuned in on something. Of course there was less static on WDBZ than was brought in with programs from other stations. Besides that, Maisenhelder's Orchestra is good and its program was not all jazz and trash.

Your Income Tax

Bad debts may be deducted from gross income in computing net income only for the year in which they are ascertained to be worthless and charged off the books of the taxpayer. The taxpayer should attach to his return a statement showing the propriety of any deduction claimed for bad debts. Where the surrounding circumstances show that a debt is worthless and uncollectible, and that legal action, in all probabilities, would not avail, proof of these facts is sufficient of their worthlessness.

Unpaid loans made to relatives or friends with little or no expectation of their return are not deductible, but are regarded as gifts. If a debt is forgiven, it can not be claimed.

A valid debt proved to be worthless is not always a proper deduction. For example, unpaid amounts representing wages, salaries or rentals, or similar items of taxable income are not allowed as deductions unless included in the creditors' return for the year or in a previous year. The fact that expected income was not received does not decrease the amount of taxable income.

Partial deductions are allowed with respect to specific debts only. Amounts subsequently recovered on account of bad debts, or on account of a part of such bad debts previously charged off and allowed for income tax purposes, must be included in gross income for the year in which received.

PLATTEKILL GRANGE HAS INTERESTING MEETING

Nearly 70 patrons responded to roll call at Plattekill Grange, No. 923, at its regular meeting Saturday evening, February 12. The play committee was commended for the successful repetition of the play "The Country Minister" at Wallkill on February 5. Mrs. Gerow Schoonmaker read her report of the work done by the Home Economic Committee of last year, of which she was chairman. This committee was congratulated for its successful work and for standing third place in rank in Ulster county. Fifty new song books were received as a gift from this year's Home Economics Committee.

Mrs. Charles Jenkins gave a most excellent report of the State Grange annual convention held at Jamestown, N. Y., February 1 to 4, which Mr. and Mrs. Jenkins attended as delegates from Ulster county. A resolution was passed favoring the proposed gasoline tax of 2 cents per gallon with the lowering of the license fee. This resolution was forwarded to the state secretary of the Grange. Worthy Master G. Ira Thompson announced the meeting of Potsdam Grange to be held at the hall on Friday, March 4, and appointed committees to arrange for the dinner to be served.

The program for the evening, in charge of the Rev. and Mrs. J. W. Taylor was an especially fine one. It was as follows: Song, America, (by Grange); salute to the flag by a number of children; recitation, A Studious Lad, Edgar R. Cronk; recitation, Lincoln's Picture, Laura Minard; vocal duet, A Tribute to Lincoln, Stella and Elizabeth Foster; recitation, When Lincoln Was a Boy, Edward Jenkins; song, Battle Hymn of the Republic; recitation, Better Off Than Lincoln, Gordon Lasher; recitation, Lincoln the Greatest, Phoebe Odell; vocal selection, Your Flag and My Flag, Edmund Wager, Myron Foster, Clarence Elder; reading, Lincoln's Humor, Bessie Harris; reading, A Warning to the Girls, Edmund Wager; patriotic address, the Rev. J. W. Taylor; song, Columbia, the Gem of the Ocean. The refreshment committee served homemade chocolate ice cream, cake and coffee.

The next meeting will be held on Saturday evening, February 26. The topic will be "Ye Old Times." There will be songs, recitations and customs of long ago observed, in charge of Mrs. Gerow Schoonmaker and Mrs. Edward Schoonmaker.

The committee requests every one attending to wear something old fashioned. Penalties and fines are hinted at for those who do not find one old-fashioned feature for his attire that evening.

The refreshment committee will be: Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Rappleyea, Mr. and Mrs. George Dustaberre, James Duryea, Mr. and Mrs. Hallock Harris, Peter M. Barclay, Horace Dustaberre.

COLDS THAT DEVELOP INTO PNEUMONIA

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

FIGHT TO SAVE HISTORIC SPOT

New Orleans Is Facing Destruction of Its Famous French Market.

New Orleans, La.—Unless something intervenes to stay the hand of the "despoiler," New Orleans' famous French market is doomed. If the commission council adopts the Association of Commerce plan for a terminal market in another section of the city, one of the most colorful spots in America will be wiped out of existence. Railroads and politics are back of it, according to rumors in the French quarter; New Orleans is a big city now and has outgrown its past, say advocates of the new terminal market.

But the French market will not pass without a struggle on the part of those that love it for its rich and romantic past and the picturesque life and charm that still cling to it. The Vieux Carre association, composed of the most prominent business and professional men of the French quarter, is its chief defender. Notable men throughout the country and abroad also are associate members of the corporation.

Formed to Save Old Section.

This organization, which is incorporated under the laws of the state of Louisiana, was formed a little over a year ago. Its purpose is to preserve the French quarter and promote the cultural and commercial interests of New Orleans' most picturesque and interesting section.

Canal street, next to Pennsylvania avenue in Washington, is one of the widest thoroughfares in any American city. It divides the New Orleans of today, a city as modern as Cleveland or Toronto, with towering skyscrapers, from the New Orleans of yesterday. North of Canal street is the Vieux Carre, or "old square," comprising about 100 squares or blocks. The architecture is that of the Eighteenth century.

The French market is at the extreme east end of the Vieux Carre, near the Mississippi river. Down narrow streets, like those of old provincial cities, daily comes the small merchants, butchers, vegetable and fish men, restaurant keepers, housewives and persons of all shades and colors to the French market.

The Latin loves to haggle over prices, and in this old market it attains its greatest degree. Perhaps an Italian, a French or a Spanish Creole is buying a chicken from a Terrebone parish farmer. To the outsider, unfamiliar with such transactions, nothing short of assault and perhaps worse will immediately follow. Voices are raised to a high pitch; arms are extended in frantic gestures, and shoulders shrugged until the onlooker expects each to fly at the other's throat. But the dealer and prospective buyer are merely trying to arrive at a price satisfactory to both. The sale made, they converse as amiably as two brothers, exchange the latest gossip and the patron passes on.

According to Louis B. Reuter, president of the Vieux Carre association and himself a large business man, the building of a terminal market, which means the passing of the French market, would ruin hundreds of business men and property owners.

Looked on as Calamity.

Residents of the Vieux Carre section realize that the facilities at the French market are inadequate. However they have proposed an alternative. They would build a new market adjoining the site of the French market, the structure to be four blocks long with a 24-foot concourse, and containing 272 stalls. It would be built generally on the plans of the Detroit public market, Reuter says. The cost, about $350,000, would be borne by private interests, the city not being asked to expend a dollar unless it wished to finance the project.

If a terminal market is erected two miles or so from the French market, says Reuter, the cost would be from $3,000,000 to $5,000,000.

Besides loading a costly "white elephant" on the city by the erection of a terminal market, residents of the Vieux Carre look upon the destruction of their beloved French market as a calamity. Erected first in 1791 by the Spaniards, the French market always has been one of the city's distinctive attractions.

Housewives, with their husbands and children, still meet at the French market on Sunday where they buy their roasts, fish, fruit, and vegetables for dinner. Up and down Decatur, Dumaine, Ursuline, St. Ann, and the other narrow streets they parade on the Sabbath. They look upon the removal of their beloved market as nothing short of sacrilege.

Spend Life in Cell for Entering Empty Room

New York.—Gerald Fonseca, twenty-seven years old, must spend the rest of his life in the penitentiary for entering a vacant room in a hotel.

One morning last December Fonseca was seen by a watchman of the Hotel Navarre walking into the empty room. He was arrested. The prosecution contended force was used to open the door and that forcible entry made his crime burglary, regardless of the fact that there was nothing in the room to steal.

Three prior jail sentences showed on Fonseca's record. This fourth conviction means a life sentence under the Baumes law of New York state.

Region of Intense Heat

The climate of Death valley, Calif., is due to a measure to its configuration. It consists of a long, narrow parallel valley, considerably below sea level. The Panamint mountains shut out from it the moist winds of the Pacific, so that in August there is less than one-half of 1 per cent of moisture in the atmosphere.

ERB-I-TOL Indian Tonic Cough and Lung Remedy

is scientifically made from the highest grade of Roots and Herbs, so that its rich vitamin contents may be easily absorbed even by a weakened digestive system. It helps to restore weak and run-down systems to health and strength. Most disease is due to a run-down condition of the body, unhealthy tissue, blood poisoned with impurities and general weakness. The principle of this medicine is simple. It furnishes the vegetable elements that the body requires, and strengthens each organ so that it can do its work. The vegetable elements are the kind of food that furnishes nourishment from which blood and tissue are made—pure and wholesome. That is how it builds tissue, builds up the body, makes strength, prevents disease, and restores the strength lost through disease.

SOME GOOD THINGS

Tomato Soup.—Fry one tablespoonful each of butter, parsley and onion for five minutes. Add one tablespoonful of cornstarch, and when well cooked add one quart of tomatoes, one pint of boiling water, one tablespoonful of sugar, one teaspoonful of salt, one-eighth of a teaspoonful of pepper, four cloves and four peppercorns. Cook fifteen minutes, strain and serve.

Cream of Chestnut Soup.—Shell and blanch a pint of chestnuts. Cook until tender and press through a sieve. To two cupfuls of chestnut pulp add salt and pepper to season. Take one cupful each of milk and cream, two tablespoonfuls each of butter and flour, cook together until thick, add the cream, chestnut mixture, and when very hot, serve.

Ginger Ale Salad.—Soften one-fourth of a package of gelatin in one-fourth of a cupful of water, stand over a dish of hot water to dissolve, add a grating of lemon rind and one and three-fourths cupfuls of ginger ale. Turn into molds to chill. Serve very cold on heart leaves of lettuce with either French or mayonnaise dressing, to a cupful of which is added three tablespoonfuls or more of cocktail sauce.

Two-Hour Rolls.—Dissolve one and one-half yeast cakes in one cupful of warm water, add salt and one and one-half cupfuls of flour. Let this rise until light. Boil and mash six potatoes, add enough warm water to make a quart; when cool add to the sponge. When this is light take one cupful of the yeast for a pan of rolls, add flour enough to make a dough to knead. Let rise a few minutes, then mold into balls the size of an egg, roll in melted butter and set close together. Let rise in a warm place until double its bulk. Bake thirty minutes. Keep the yeast in a cool place and it will last a week or more.

Why women like this way to get clothes whiter

JUST three simple steps—soak, rinse and hang out the whitest, brightest wash ever!

That's why millions of women use Rinso. No hard rubbing. No washboard. No boiling to heat the kitchen and waste fuel.

The thick, creamy Rinso suds loosen dirt and stains so they float off—easily.

Clothes last longer, for they aren't rubbed thin. Nor are hands ruined by scrubbing and parboiling. This way is not only easier, but safer!

For a whiter, brighter wash—try Rinso next washday. It's all you need. Gives rich suds even in hard water. Wonderful in washing machines, too.

ELEANOR GUNN ON FASHIONS

The Tailleur Assumes Added Importance As Springtime Draws Near.

Cairo, Egypt.—It appears that the tailored suit is of vast importance for spring. Discounting the fact that a Frenchwoman invariably has a tailleur for morning wear, Paris, and now Cairo, seems to acclaim it for purposes of travel and for more general usage than has been the custom for some time.

This is in keeping with the preference for costumes made in two pieces instead of in one piece. However, there are several interesting examples here of cloth dresses that are really made in one piece, but which are so cut as to give the impression of two pieces.

Such a frock was noted at the terrace of the hotel here, smartly worn by a slender dark woman whose nationality was a matter of speculation. It was fashioned of a dark green broadcloth, opened at the neck to almost the normal waistline, there being bone buttons from a discreet V to this point. On close observation, the front of the frock turned out to be set in the bosom of the cloth, rounded or rather U-shaped, and stitched to the dress proper.

A Spring Version of the "Smoking."

Carrying Out the Idea of the Evening Suit, This Trotteur Has a Jacket of Black Cashmere with Black Satin Lapels, White Waistcoat and Skirt Are of Gray Cashmere. The Skirt Is Decorated with Three Rows of Silver Soutache.

The skirt was made in godets also finely strapped and stitched, so that the effect was extremely tailored and more like a suit when viewed from the front, at least, than a dress. Many of the cloth dresses, and here they are worn by the smartest people, give this impression. Quite frequently, there is a contrast in material, but this occurs in suits as well.

There are, among the several smart cloth costumes worn here, some that are of bordered material. One, a navy cloth, with wide pleated skirt, has a wide band of stripes blue, green, and gray around the skirt some four inches from the edge. The short double-breasted jacket is blue, with turn-over collar and straight cuffs of the stripe.

STATE OFFICERS TO ATTEND C. D. OF A. BANQUET HERE

The invitation extended by Court Santa Maria, No. 164, Catholic Daughters of America, to attend their banquet on Washington's birthday, February 22, at the Governor Clinton Hotel, has been accepted by State Regent Mrs. Cecilia H. Murphy, State Secretary Mrs. Mary Tynan and Mrs. Mae M. Ganovan, grand regent of Court Columbia, New York city.

New Sports Wear Declares Importance of Stripes

There's no escaping stripes this season. They are inevitable. Silk, cotton, worsted, rayon and knitted fabrics all declare the importance of stripes for spring. The designer of the sports costume here shown chooses to confer tan, brown and red stripes on the blouse, posing this over a plain tan flannel skirt. The cunning red suede belt worn with this blouse is also indicative of the mode.

Trousers for Women to Be 1927 Sports Fashion

Trousers as general sports wear for women are looming. The masculine garment threatens to make its appearance in women's fashions at an early date the latest feature of women's sports wear, according to a forecast by Baron de Meyer, noted international fashion authority, in a dispatch from St. Moritz to Harper's Bazar.

Fashion leaders at the celebrated Swiss winter resort have definitely adopted trousers as a part of skiing and skating costumes, says De Meyer, who anticipates an early spread of the vogue to general sports wear.

"Norwegian trousers or breeches are a part of every woman's outfit here, the prejudice against such masculine attire having completely disappeared.

"Trousers are now considered as suitable for the old-fashioned mother as for the sophisticated modern daughter.

"Fashions in sports clothes now derive from the masculine attitude. Both sexes present an identical appearance in winter sports here.

"I believe that the advent of trousers for women for active sports is looming in the very near future."

Jewelry Prescribed for Every Hour of the Day

Jewelry for every hour of the day is being worn by smart women all over the world.

Now that one wears as many bracelets as a marine sergeant has stripes, more care and discretion must be used, says Harper's Bazar. When slave bracelets first were worn, they were inclined to be heavy and a little clumsy, but the design and workmanship have been refined until now they are decidedly more wearable.

Then, too, the use of carnelian and black onyx, crystal and green onyx, or red and yellow gold, has made them beautiful. The evening mode is most lavish in its use of bracelets. Many are so perfect they may be worn with genuine pearls.

The brilliancy of the evening mode is not confined alone to gowns and jewelry. Accessories, too, have taken on a scintillating splendor. Flowers are made of gold or silver cloth, or even of rhinestones on a silver mesh. Evening bags are beautifully designed and made with the idea of completing the costume.

Fringe Lends Grace to Frocks for Midseason

Fringes of silk, fringes of metal and glittering fringes of crystals—these are trimming details which give new interest to frocks and add an effect of movement that is charming and graceful.

The continued vogue of shawls may have something to do with the important place in fashion of the fringed frock; there can be no doubt as to its prominence and to its adoption by the smartest women of both continents.

Among the loveliest of the frocks brought out for the midseason and for wear at the southern resorts are those with a foundation of shimmering white satin. The skirts are composed of many crystal fringes of different widths, according to the silhouette of the wearer, and the glittering effect is repeated on the waist which, in many instances, is a diversion before entirety of crystals.

Equally lovely and adapted to less formal occasions are dresses of black chiffon velvet with a double flared skirt of black silk fringe.

King's Death Warrant

The original warrant for the execution of Charles I is in the library of the house of lords. It was produced by Colonel Harter after the Restoration, and was the evidence upon which those who had signed it were excepted from the indemnity act.

Both drivers are to blame for the accident pictured here. Of course, the motorist should have used the right-hand side to alight instead of exposing himself to the approaching vehicle. Mother! Now You Know How To Help Your Puny, Weak Child

It's Your Duty to Aid Him To Grow Strong, Active and Sound in Body and Mind.

That little boy or girl or yours—that doesn't weigh enough—that isn't strong—has no appetite—lacks vigor and is perhaps backward, listless and timid.

What are you going to do with him?

Have you ever heard of McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets sugar coated and as easy for ailing children to take as candy?

Every druggist in America sells them—60 tablets, 60 cents—and the supreme good combination of upbuilding agents surely does help the sickly, run down, puny, frail little ones.

No need to give him any more nasty Cod Liver Oil—McCoy's Tablets, rich in vitamines, are made to take the place of that good but evil smelling, stomach upsetting medicine, and they surely do.

Try them as directed for 30 days, mother; and if at the end of that time you are not delighted with the improvement in your dear little one, get your money back.

You can get them at any druggist and remember, too, they are fine for thin, run down, underweight men and women who need more flesh, strength, vigor and vitality. Demand McCoy's—the original and genuine.

Right or Wrong Direction?

There is no use for us to ask anxiously if our power is increasing. There is no doubt of that. The only question is whether it is increasingly good or increasingly evil.—Amos R. Wells.

Sunday School League Results

Wednesday evening was Sunday School League night on the "Y" court and a trio of games were disposed of which pleased the followers of the church players. The Redeemer quintet played with four men at a time not because they lacked performers but to give the Congregationals who opposed them, the breaks. The Ponckhockie boys had but four players and the Redeemers went in the contest four at a time which exhibited their good sportsmanship. The game was in the clutches of the Redeemer boys from the start and Hank Dittus, who played forward for the victors set a record for point gathering on the Y court. His total was 49 markers—24 fields and one foul. Fox was the next man in line with 23 frommen

The Dutch clipped the wings of the Comforter aggregation early in the contest and ended the fray with the favorable end of a 38 to 13 score. Irwin, the point-getting center for the Dutchmen gathered a total of 25 markers DuBois was the star of the Comforter team.

The Port Ewen vs. Presbyterian setto was the most exciting of the evening and was probably one of the fastest games played in the Sunday School League this season. The boys from over-the-bridge won by the score of 24 to 22. Van Etten did the big work for the victors by corralling 18 markers. Blackwell caged the largest number of points for the Presbyterians.

Officials of the tennis association expressed the opinion that Mrs. Molla Mallory, national champion, did not jeopardize her amateur standing when she played in a mixed doubles match in Miami against Miss Mary K. It was pointed out that it is a common practice for amateurs to practice against professionals, but the association does not want to encourage it as a public proposition.

TROUT FISHING NOT DYING OUT

Best Sport Found in Rapids of Big Rivers.

Trout fishing dying out?

Not a bit of it, in the opinion of Dan Cameron Shafer, writing in Field and Stream.

"There will be trout fishing here long after we are gone, and for our children's children. It won't be the kind of trout fishing our granddaddies enjoyed, with their ironwood poles and red flannel flies. But there are those of us who, while taking off our fly-covered fishing hats to Salvelinus fontinalis, the finest eating fish in the world, would rather hook into a big scrappy, acrobatic rainbow in swift water than any brooker of equal size and weight that ever raised to a Parmachenee Bell."

While the article in Field and Stream admits that whipping a two-foot stream for Salvelinus fontinalis, vulgarly known as brook trout, today produces no more results than whipping the front lawn, it contends that trout fishing of the best can now be found in the rapids of the big rivers. Trout caught in big waters are not the old brook trout; they are the English brown trout or the rainbow.

Mr. Shafer says, "There isn't any water too big, and not much of it too warm, for brown and rainbow trout. Big water—Why, the finest trout fishing anywhere is in the St. Clair Rapids between Lake Huron and Lake Erie! Near Rome, N. Y., the local fish and game club has been stocking the upper Mohawk and other large streams with the greatest success. The main branches of the Delaware now offer good fishing far below the original brook trout water. In New England, Pennsylvania, Michigan, Wisconsin, they are beginning to stock the larger streams with browns and rainbows, according to whether or not the water is fast or sluggish."

According to Field and Stream it took fishermen many years to learn the strange new ways of the rainbow and brown trout and to realize that they are a different fish than the old familiar "brookers."

Speaking of brown trout, the article says, "We brought these trout of the big streams over here and tried to make them stay in mountain brooks, where our native trout would have done much better. They didn't stay; they ran down the rivers, ponds, lakes. One of nineteen pounds was caught in Scroon lake last year; another of the same weight was taken from Shandaken reservoir.

The article in Field and Stream concludes with instructions as to the most approved methods of stocking streams and with a warning against foolish stocking with worthless fish.

Jack Smith Is England's Professional Golf Hope

Jack Smith, Great Britain's longest hitter of the golf ball, has developed from a slugger into one of the hopes of that country for recovering its golfing honors from America.

In professional competition at Hindhead, Smith set a new course record of 68, knocking four strokes from the previous low medal mark, held by Ray Hartley, the Cambridge university golfer.

Smith's terrific tee shots were the feature of his round. At the 247-yard thirteenth hole his drive rested feet from the cup. Smith's advance in other departments of the game marks him as a player of the future.

Bouts at White Eagle February 23

Joe Vosdick of Saugerties Will Again Meet George Lunden in Main Affair—Other Bouts Scheduled on the Card.

The first smoker ever put on by the Duke Sporting and Athletic Club in White Eagle Hall will be staged on the evening of Wednesday, February 23. Everything is set for the occasion and a most interesting card of bouts is promised to the public and a cordial welcome is extended to attend. There will be vaudeville entertainment and Eddie Scherer, who acts in the same capacity as Joe Humphries, will again please the fans with his part of the program.

The outstanding bout will be between Joe Vosdick of Saugerties and George Lunden of Finland, who is touring the world. Joe is anxious to get another chance at the Finn and if he does as well as he did at the last meeting with the battler from across the waters the fight will surely be an interesting one. But Joe promised to do even better which insures a wonderful exhibition.

Lunden is also determined to exhibit the best of his wares and is waiting for the gong to ring in order to stage a come-back. The last time his efforts were in vain and the only thing he was able to gain from Vosdick was a much discolored optic However his reputation must be upheld and he is out to send Vosdick to the canvas if at all possible.

Fast Semi-Final.

The semi-final will be produced by Billy Rapp and Barney Montair, colored. Both boys are fast but the fans who saw Montair fight Johnny Carpino in Port Ewen proclaim that the Portuguese fighter, for that is Montair's nationality, will snatch the edge on the encounter. Barney is a very clever man and has boxed in many of the large gyms in this country. His work as a bridge builder enables him to come in contact with the "cream" of the fistic game and in this way he has learned much. To top it all off Barney is a pupil of Joe Colletti which means that chances for a fast fight are assured. Colletti does not admire the man who can take the socks but the fighter who is fast and can uncork a lightning wallop

One of the most attractive of the bouts will be between Roy Van Buren, the local flash, and Kid Buck. They have mixed things up on a previous occasion but Roy was the best mixer and but for the referee would have sent Mr. Buck to the portion of the squared circle embellished with canvas. Buck wants another chance and Roy is determined to make the bout end in the same fashion as the last meeting

Al West and Fred Durio will make their debut in a four rounder. Both boys will be strangers to most of the fans but nevertheless they have favorable records as dispensers of sleep producing wallops.

Mike Sarkies and Billy Litts will perform in a setto before a group of fans who wish to see both men produce a real fight. It will be the aim of each to please for they are working earnestly to keep in trim for the fracas.

Bill Houghtaling will render vocal selections. DeKoskie and Levine will also be on hand with melodies which have pleased like audiences in the past.

For the convenience of those who wish to have seats saved the Duke has arranged to receive telephone calls at 1935-W, the store of John Albany on the Strand Patrons may also call on the Duke personally at 108 Murray street.

Sea Superstitions

We are indebted to the seamen of antiquity for the belief that kingfishers cast a spell upon the deep, so that calm weather prevails during the "halcyon days," about the time of the winter solstice. Old salts object to the presence of a cat on board ship, because she "carries a gale in her tail."

Fight Tickets In Great Demand

Delaney-Maloney Match Friday Creates Unparalleled Situation in Demand for Tickets—Odds on Delaney 3 to 2.

New York, Feb. 17 (AP).—Stirred to the depths by promise of the most thrilling heavyweight encounter of the season, New York's fistic world today talked nothing but "fight" as Jimmy Maloney and Jack Delaney prepared to pull up training camp stakes and head for the scene of their ten-round battle Friday night at Madison Square Garden.

Rumors of "investigations" and dire injury to Maloney, coupled with a last minute rush of thousands of fans for tickets that do not exist, contributed confusion to the situation. At the Garden, Tex Rickard wrestled with the problem of finding room in an arena that seats 18,000 for the 100,000 fans besieging him for tickets.

Odds on the bout were juggled about in Wall Street when Maloney was reported to have injured his right hand in the final day of training at Long Branch, N. J. When the report reached the outskirts of fandom, the Boston giant had a "broken wrist," then a "fractured arm" and finally Rickard himself hastily called the camp to find if Maloney really had "broken his arm in several places." The report was false.

Despite the refusal of the boxing commission to investigate the ticket sale at Rickard's request, speculators were reported, on the streets with pasteboards available at fancy quotations. Prices for $22 ringside seats were said to be bringing an average of $110 apiece in groups and as high as $150 for a single ticket.

Investigation rumors reached their height with the report that inspectors of the Internal Revenue Department had been assigned to each ticket office in the Broadway district with orders to gather evidence of ticket sales above the 50 per cent margin allowed by law. This report could not be verified.

With the ticket sale creating a situation unparalleled in local boxing annals and exceeding in demand even the Dempsey-Tunney championship match last fall, boxing fans took a final look at the betting odds and disgorged predictions. The odds on Delaney stood 3 to 2 for victory and 1 to 3 that the light-heavyweight championship would receive a knockout. A flood of backing to the Maloney cause, reported from "wise" sources, made the ordinary fan wary, however.

For the smiling Boston Irishman, a slugging machine of 200 pounds ringside, has caused the interest of the metropolitan enthusiasts with a bruising style of milling that has overwhelmed his last three opponents here. The picturesque Delaney, perfect ringman with a cool defense and tricky resourceful offense that includes one of the most powerful right hands in fisticuffs already has caught public fancy in his parade through the light-heavyweights. Weighing in around 175, he crushed Bud Gorman, Wisconsin heavyweight, in two rounds in his principal clash with a big man.

Insurance Against Coal Shortage Will Be Discussed at Annual Meeting of Mining Engineers

MANUFACTURE OF GAS FOR DOMESTIC HEATING ANOTHER LIVE SUBJECT

AMERICAN coal consumers are insured against fuel shortage. This is the opinion of Walter Barnum, of New York City, President of the Pacific Coast Company, with coal operations in the state of Washington, and the head of the National Coal Association, the nation-wide organization of bituminous coal producers. Mr. Barnum will elaborate on this opinion at the annual meeting of the American Institute of Mining and Metallurgical Engineers, to be held in New York City, February 14-17.

Another interesting number on the program of the Institute meeting is the report of the Coal and Coke Committee, headed by Howard N. Eavenson, which will deal with the effect of trends in gas manufacture on the coal industry. The report will treat of the use of coal for the manufacture of water gas, the suitability of western coals for gas manufacture, the mixing of coals for gas manufacture, and the manufacturing of gas for house heating.

The New York meeting will bring together the largest and most representative gathering of mining and metallurgical engineers ever held in this country. The vital importance of coal to industry accounts for the marked degree of interest that is manifested in Mr. Barnum's appearance on the program. While the engineers are meeting in New York the wage scale negotiations between the union bituminous operators and the miners will be in progress. At the present time, Mr. Barnum declares, it is impossible to forecast the outcome of the wage conference. Regarding fuel supply, he says:

"If the outcome should be a deadlock with a resulting suspension of operations in union mines, what inconvenience will the public suffer? I have no hesitation in saying that, at the most, it will be very slight. So far as mine capacity is concerned, non-union production alone can keep pace with consumption, at least during the summer and autumn, and no general strike in the union fields has ever continued more than five months. Moreover, the remarkably creditable performances of the railroads of the country during recent weeks of record production justifies confidence that the railroads can move the coal.

"The extent to which non-union production has increased in recent years is remarkable. Three years ago about 60 per cent of the tonnage was produced by union operations. According to recent figures, only about 35 per cent of the tonnage comes from union mines. The shift from union to non-union operations has taken place to a varying extent in nine states. The highest percentage of mines making such change was in Oklahoma and Arkansas but the largest aggregate shift in the number of mines and in tonnage was in Pennsylvania and West Virginia. Among the coal producing states there are five in which more than 90 per cent of the production comes from union mines, namely, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas and Michigan. On the other hand there are eight important bituminous coal producing states in which more than 90 per cent of the mines are non-union, namely, Alabama, Colorado, Kentucky, Maryland, New Mexico, Utah, Virginia and West Virginia.

Zionist Mass Meeting Tonight

Noted Yiddish Orator to Address Meeting at Jewish Community Center on Conditions In Holy Land.

Mordecai Bunim of Palestine, renowned Yiddish orator and Palestinian labor leader, will be the principal speaker at a mass meeting this evening in the Hebrew Community Center under the auspices of the local Zionists. Mr. Bunim is the first Palestinian to visit this community and to describe actual living conditions of the Jews in the Holy Land.

Mr. Bunim, who is a native of Russia, has made his permanent home in Palestine since 1922. During these five years he has occupied himself with the problems of the pioneer agriculturists, living as a farmer and taking full part in the life of the "Chaiutzim"; the Hebrew name given to the Hebrew youth who have come to Palestine with the object of devoting their lives to the rebuilding the Jewish national home.

In Palestine the pioneers are the strongest organized body of Jews. Mr. Bunim is one of their outstanding leaders and has several times been called to Europe to go on speaking tours in Poland, Lithuania and other countries, to describe the life of the Palestinian Jew. Before living in Palestine, Mr. Bunim was very active in the Zionist movement in Russia, which has not legitimatized Zionist work, and he was several times tried and sentenced to prison for his Zionist activity. Mr. Bunim has not only lived in Palestine for five years, but has three times made the journey from the extreme north to the extreme south on foot, a distance of over 300 miles, from Metulla to Ber Sheba.

The chairman of the meeting tonight will be Charles Katz, the leading local Zionist, while several other local speakers will complete the program.

The chairman announces that no appeals for money will be made at the meeting. Admission will be free.

SAMUEL INSULL — ROBERT E. CROWE

WILLIAM D. SHEPERD — ALEXANDER P. MOORE

Samuel Insull, Chicago traction magnate, and Robert E. Crowe, Chicago State's Attorney, were summoned to appear before the Senate slush fund investigators again February 21 as the result of a court ruling that they must answer questions or face punishment. Charges that William D. Shepherd, of Chicago, killed his ward, William Nelson McClintock, of which Shepherd was once acquitted, were revived by relatives who sought to obtain McClintock's estate. Alexander P. Moore, former Ambassador to Spain, refused the post of censor of New York theatres.

Bear's Hollow Log for a Sleeping Place

Hilland, Mich.—Dr. Willis Geerings decided to spend a night in a bear's den when lost in the northern woods. His experience is sufficient, Doctor Geerings said, after an argument with a full-grown bear. On a deer hunting trip in the upper peninsula the physician became lost in a swamp with darkness coming on. He picked out a hollow log and decided to enlarge the opening and spend the night.

Suddenly hearing a noise, he turned and saw a black bear approaching. The doctor realized then that he was entering the home of the bear. The bear stood and toppled the bear, then turned and ran. Meantime, Doctor Geerling's brother, who was searching for him, arrived. By the light of a lantern the two tracked the bear.

They came on the wounded bear, which showed fight but was killed by a second shot. The doctor brought his bear home with him along with a deer.

Butt of the Joke

One of the agriculture study classes in the Scipio schools had been studying sheep, and one of the test questions required that four breeds or kinds of sheep be named. One boy could recall three kinds, but not the fourth. Finally, in desperation, he added, "Spearmint gum."

Financial and Commercial

New York, Feb. 17 (AP).—Bullish operations in today's stock market showed greater diversification, but the rails, particularly the southwestern issues, were again in the forefront of the advance. Easy money rates and bullish trade news, combined with the circulation of a large crop of railroad merger rumors, helped to keep the speculative fever at high pitch.

Talk of a counter move by the Pennsylvania and Loree railroad interests to offset the seeming advantage obtained by the three other eastern trunk lines in their recent acquisition of control in the Wheeling and Lake Erie and Western Maryland roads stimulated activity in the rails. Pennsylvania officials denied that they were recent purchasers of Wabash and Lackawanna stocks, but the former was in brisk demand nevertheless. Missouri Pacific and Texas and Pacific each extended their gains to nearly 5 points and "Katy", Chicago Northwestern and Kansas City Southern sold 3 or more points higher.

Reports that some of the large commission houses had been instructed by recent purchasers of Baldwin not to loan the stock for delivery against short sales brought urgent short covering in that issue, carrying it up nearly 60 points above the low level of last month, and 3¾ points above last night's close. Motors displayed a stronger undertone on reports that no general price cutting was in prospect, despite recent reductions by some of the large manufactures.

Sugar, merchandising and chain store shares presented several points of strength, but activity in the oils was confined largely to the Producers and Refiners issues.

Epworth League Group Conference

On February 26th in the Port Ewen M. E. Church the annual Group Conference of the Kingston District Epworth League will be held. There will be a brief business session in the morning at 10:30. In the afternoon there will be two addresses, one by Dr. George Benton Smith, district superintendent of the Kingston district, and another by Dr. Allan Mac Rossie of New York city. Dr. Mac Rossie is the director of the Commission of Study of the Methodist Church. He is a very forceful speaker and always has a message for both young and old. In the evening a Bible drama, "Lydia, Seller of Purple," will be given by the Dramatic Society of the Clinton Avenue Chapter. This drama portrays in a most striking way the sacrifice of an early Christian follower for the Christ ideal. It is presented in three most interesting scenes. A large chorus choir under the direction of Rolland E. Hermance of Saugerties will sing in the afternoon and evening sessions. The public is invited to attend the sessions.

VAN BRAMER AND CASHIN TO "BLACK BOTTOM" AT READES

The "Black Bottom" will be performed for the first time by local artists on Sunday night in Reade's Kingston theatre when the Jewish Community Center benefit performance will be held. It will be exhibited by Vincent Van Bramer, local dancing instructor, and his partner, Miss Helen Cashin, who have both made reputations as accomplished dancers.

The "Black Bottom" is being featured in New York and was done for the first time on the stage by Ann Pennington, who played in George White's Scandals. It is the intention of the two local dancers to interpret the number as nearly as possible the way it was done in the Scandals, with some novel touches.

Mr Van Bramer will have Tony Turck and his galaxy of syncopaters to furnish the music needed in the act. A special setting will be arranged and the orchestra under the direction of Tony Turck will sit on the stage.

CURRENT OFFERINGS AT THE THEATRES

Ben Loring and his musical comedy will play an entirely new show tonight at Reade's Kingston theatre. The feature cinema attraction will be "The Eagle of the Sea".

The Auditorium theatre will present the picture "The Nervous Wreck", classed as a mirthful farcical comedy.

The Orpheum theatre will produce the double features, "Looking for Trouble", with Jack Hoxie and his horse, Scout; also "The Enchanted Hill", starring Jack Holt.

"Where you meet your friends."

Sudden draughts on a hot room cause stiffness

RELIEVES STIFFNESS CAUSED BY CHILL

Pressman tells how newspaper workers keep fit

The pressmen working in a newspaper office at Dorchester, Mass., used to have great trouble with rheumatic stiffness owing to frequent sudden draughts of cold air when the doors were opened to take in rolls of paper.

One of their number began using Sloan's Liniment and now they all chip in to keep Sloan's always on hand for the entire shop.

"After my day's work I rub a little Sloan's Liniment on my back and legs. It never fails."

Sloan's gives real help because it doesn't just deaden the pain. It gets at the cause.

Apply gently, without rubbing. Right away you feel the comfortable, glowing warmth as the new blood is brought to the sore spots, and soon the aching stops. Get a bottle today. All druggists—35 cents.

Vera McCrea at Accord Meeting

Miss Vera McCrea, home editor of the Dairymen's League News, one of the foremost women authorities on agricultural economics and rural home cooperation, will be the principal speaker at a meeting of the Accord local of the Dairymen's League Cooperative Association, Inc., in Accord Saturday evening, February 19.

Miss McCrea, who has just completed a series of meetings in Chenango county at which she addressed several hundred farm men and women, is making a special trip to Accord to tell the Ulster county women how they can help in the modern day scheme of agricultural cooperation. She will bring to this meeting the results of her long study of rural problems, and will present her ideas of how they may be remedied.

Hal Eppes of Accord, widely known as Healthy the Milk Clown, will lead the community singing which is to be interspersed in the meeting and supper. A chicken supper to be served by the women of the Dairymen's League will be a feature of the meeting, which will be held in the Odd Fellows' Hall. Mr. Eppes promises to lead the crowd into an old fashioned community sing such as helped in other days in the raising of funds with which to build a milk plant at Accord.

Following the meeting there will be a dance.

Hermits' Cells Remain

The mountains near the city of Jericho, says one who explored many of them, "are absolutely honeycombed by the cells of ancient anchorites and hermits from top to bottom." Some of these contain frescoes and inscriptions of much interest, dating back to the earliest years of the Christian era.

Students to Be "Stung" in Study of Bee Poison

New York.—Fifty young men and women students at the Homeopathic Medical college have volunteered to be artificially "stung" by bees and spiders in an attempt to determine whether the venom can be made to serve some medicinal purpose.

Members of the squad with notebook and pencil will record the mental and physical effects of the poisons as they are injected while experts make careful observations.

While the layman probably never has noticed any beneficial result from an encounter with a bee or a spider, the scientists at the college believe the poisons of the insects may be a remedy for forms of kidney disease.

Small amounts of the poisons will be given the students at first. By summer vacation, doses will be increased to such an extent that hospitalization may be necessary.

Boos and Hisses Greet Short Skirts in Lisbon

Lisbon, Portugal.—Portugal frowns upon the short skirt. Women who attempt to adopt the "up-to-the-knee" style have been subjected to popular manifestations.

Two young women of good family selling flowers and medals in the streets for a charitable institution wore short flimsy skirts which fluttered in the wind as they accosted the passers-by. But the boos of the market venders, chiefly women, drove the girls from the street.

Prince Henry Meets "Double" for First Time

London.—After hearing about his "double" for a year or so, Prince Henry recently met him for the first time.

Lieut. James Ford of the brigade of guards and husband of Princess Marie Bariatinsky, is the "double."

His likeness to Henry is striking. Upon meeting the prince he volunteered to shave his mustache, if Henry desired, but the king's son remarked that if any shaving had to be done he would do it himself.

Mothers, Do This—

When the children cough, rub Musterole on their throats and chests. No telling how soon the symptoms may develop into croup, or worse. And then's when you're glad you have a jar of Musterole at hand to give prompt relief.

At first aid, Musterole is excellent. Keep a jar ready for instant use.

It is the remedy for adults, too. Relieves sore throat, bronchitis, tonsilitis, croup, stiff neck, asthma, neuralgia, headache, congestion, pleurisy, rheumatism, lumbago, pains and aches of back or joints, sprains, sore muscles, chilblains, frosted feet and colds of the chest (it may prevent pneumonia).

To Mothers: Musterole is also made in milder form for babies and small children. Ask for Children's Musterole.
